

Tuesday 8th February 2022
9.30am – 1.00pm on Zoom

@TSRFScot
#TSRF22

Programme

- 9.25 Join the conference with the link sent by email
- 9.30 Welcome and introduction - Why do research ethics in the third sector matter?
Steven Marwick, Evaluation Support Scotland
- 9.45 Plenary 1 Chaired by Steve Grozier, SCVO
Ethical research dilemmas in practice
Prof. Karen McArdle, University of Aberdeen
Dr Jane Cullingworth, University of Glasgow
Ethical considerations of equal opportunities monitoring
Chris Ross, Children in Scotland
- 10.30 Break
- 10.45 Parallel sessions Book your place on one of the following:
Session 1 Ethical dilemmas experienced when hearing research participants' voices
Session 2 Sharing research data ethically
Session 3 Embedding research ethics in your organisation
- 11.45 Break
- 12.00 Plenary 2 Chaired by Steven Marwick, Evaluation Support Scotland
Consultation on future support for third sector
Reflective researchers
An example of informal ethics support
Fiona McHardy, Poverty Alliance
- 1.00 Finish

By the end of the conference participants will:

- know more about good practice in ethical third sector research
- better understand how to overcome ethical issues in third sector research
- have had the opportunity to talk about your research ethical issues
- have been consulted on how you want to be supported with research ethics

Parallel sessions

Each parallel session will comprise two presentations and Q&A followed by discussions in small breakout groups.

Parallel session 1

Ethical dilemmas experienced when hearing research participants' voices

Speakers:

Dr Hannah Tweed, The ALLIANCE – Ethics and lived experience research into Self-directed Support

Dr Laura Robertson, Poverty Alliance - How is an ethical approach followed in peer research by children and young people?

Parallel session 2

Sharing research data ethically

Speakers:

Steven Marwick, Evaluation Support Scotland - What data to share and how? Principles of data sharing

Debbie Maltman, Volunteer Scotland – Data sharing in the third sector

Parallel session 3

Embedding research ethics in your organisation

Speakers:

Dr Amy Calder, YouthLink and Dr Neil Davidson, Scottish Government - Developing a research policy in a third sector organisation

Simon Anderson, Independent Consultant and Liz Scowcroft, The Samaritans - Getting everyone on board with research ethics

